

Behaviour Code for Children at Knutz Club

We have this Behaviour Code so that everyone who comes to Knutz Club knows how to behave while they are here. So that everyone feels safe and can have fun. And so that everyone knows what will happen if their behaviour is not acceptable.

We understand that at times it is difficult for children to manage their emotions or your behaviour and we want to help if we can. We use this Behaviour Code to support children to manage their own behaviour.

We will help everyone to who comes to Knutz Club to understand the code. Everyone who comes to Club must agree to follow it.

The staff and children at our Club work together to make up our Club Rules. There are different rules when we are inside, when we are outside and when we are eating.

You SHOULD

- Be supportive and kind to others
- Be friendly
- Listen to others
- Be helpful
- Have good manners
- Take responsibility for you own behaviour
- Join in and have fun

You must NOT

- Be disrespectful, intimidating or abusive to anyone
- Hurt other people in any way
- Upset others
- Damage our toys and equipment

What if your behaviour is not acceptable?

If we see that you behave in a way that doesn't follow our behaviour code, we will remind you about it and give you the chance to change your behaviour. There will be consequences if you do not change your behaviour. We will decide at the time what would be an appropriate consequence.

If you still do not follow our behaviour code after you have been reminded, or if we feel your behaviour is more serious, we will write down what happened and tell your parents or carers. Together we will all agree how we will support you to make the right choices. There will be further consequences if you still do not change your behaviour.

If the support we put in place isn't helping you to improve your behaviour, we will give you a formal warning. This will include a time frame for your behaviour to be back on track. If you cannot change your behaviour it is likely that you will not be able to stay in the club.
